Costa Rica Field Experience Tour

(May 4–May 11, 2012)

The Field Study in International Economics course is an instruction and tour program that studies production and allocation of resources in Costa Rica. The course focuses on business and economic development in Costa Rica. The course looks at the organizational frameworks related to resource allocation in Costa Rica, the role of the international economy (through the operation of multinational corporations and the conduct of international trade and finance), and the importance of cultural differences in business development and practices. The Costa Rica Field Experience Tour includes lectures from educators and practitioners, tours of transnational corporations and local firms, and visits to an active volcano, the free zone, and eco-tourism facilities.

Eligibility Requirements: Program is open to undergraduate (junior or senior) and graduate students with a 2.5 GPA or higher.
