16th Annual
Family Enterprise Research Conference (FERC)
FERC Research Seminars

May 28, 2020
College of Business
Florida Atlantic University

SEMINAR LEADERS

KEITH BRIGHAM is the Kent R. Hance Professor of Entrepreneurship at Texas Tech University where he is also the Director of the Center for Entrepreneurial and Family Business. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Colorado at Boulder. His research is focused primarily on entrepreneurship, entrepreneurial cognitions, temporal orientation, and family business. Keith’s research has been published in leading journals such as Journal of Business Venturing, Entrepreneurship: Theory and Practice, and Organizational Research Methods. The quality of this work has been recognized with several awards, notably the Family Firm Institute honored him with the Best Paper Award for Family Business Review (2009). He also serves on the review boards of Journal of Business Venturing, Entrepreneurship: Theory & Practice, and Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal as well as being an associate editor of Family Business Review. In addition to these academic positions, Keith is the co-owner and board member of CompRisk Management in Oklahoma City.

KIM EDDLESTON is the Schulze Distinguished Professor of Entrepreneurship and the Montoni Research Fellow at the D’Amore-Mckim School of Business, Northeastern University. She is also an Academic Scholar at Cornell University’s Smith Family Business Initiative. Kim’s research focuses on the interface of work and family, with a particular focus on women’s entrepreneurship and family businesses. She serves as an Associate Editor for the Journal of Business Venturing, Senior Editor for the Entrepreneur & Innovation Exchange, and Founding Editor of FamilyBusiness.org. Her research as been recognized with multiple awards and has published more than 60 articles in leading journals such as Academy of Management Journal, Strategic Management Journal, Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of Management Studies, Journal of Business Venturing, and Journal of International Business Studies. In addition, she has had various levels of involvement with several of her family’s businesses, which are in the real estate, construction, business services, and hospitality industries.
NADINE KAMMERLANDER is the Chaired Professor of Family Business at WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management. With a master’s in physics, her PhD is from the Otto-Friedrich-University of Bamberg. Prior to becoming a scholar, Nadine worked with McKinsey & Company advising several companies active in the semiconductor and automotive industry. Her research interests focus on innovation and governance as well as succession in family firms. Nadine is an associate editor of Family Business Review and serves on the editorial board of Entrepreneurship: Theory and Practice. Her research has appeared in several renowned journals such as Academy of Management Review, Academy of Management Journal, Entrepreneurship: Theory and Practice, and Journal of Business Venturing. In addition, this work has been honored with several awards for its applicability to practice, including Jürgen-Hauschild Award for innovation management; Family Firm Institute Best Unpublished Paper Award; International Family Enterprise Research Academy (IFERA) Best Practice Contribution Award; and the Transeo Award for Best Paper on Business Transfer.

ROLAND KIDWELL is the Desantis Distinguished Professor of Management and Entrepreneurship as well as the Chair of the Department of Management Programs and Director of the Adams Center for Entrepreneurship at Florida Atlantic University. He received his PhD from Louisiana State University. His research and publications are focused on human resource issues in family firms, franchise relationships, dysfunctional behavior at work, new ventures and economic development, and business ethics. With over 50 manuscripts, Roland’s research has been published in journals such as Academy of Management Review, Journal of Management, Journal of Business Venturing, Entrepreneurship: Theory & Practice, and Human Resource Management. As a leader in scholarship and practice, Roland has served Chair of the Management History division of the Academy of Management and his influence has extended beyond academic circles, holding business consulting certifications in family business and wealth advising.

ISABELLE LE BRETON-MILLER is a Professor of Management and holds the Chair of Succession and Family Enterprise at HEC Montreal. She received her PhD from Imperial College, London after having served in senior resource management positions in several companies. Her research, teaching interests, and publications center on strategies, organization designs, governance structures and succession within family businesses. She has authored over 50 publications on family firms. Her book, a family business classic, with Danny Miller, Managing for the Long Run (Harvard Business School Press) has been translated into six languages. Since 2016, she has been a member of the College of New Scholars, Artists and Scientists of the Royal Society of Canada. She consults with family businesses in the areas of strategy, governance and succession.
DANNY MILLER is a Research Professor of Strategic Management at HEC Montreal, and Director of HEC’s Center for Research on Organization, Strategy and Governance. He received his PhD from McGill University and has held visiting professorships at McGill University, Columbia University, and the University of Alberta. His areas of research interest are strategy, organization design, and family business. He has published nearly 200 articles and seven books and his works have been cited over 75,000 times. His impact on management practice is equally far-reaching. Honored by the Academy of Management for his world-class research, Danny is a Fellow of the Academy of Management, Family Firm Institute and the Strategic Management Society. He consults with international corporations and family businesses in the areas of strategy and organizational design.

G. TYGE PAYNE is the Snyder Professor of Strategic Management at Texas Tech University. He received his PhD from Texas Tech University. His research examines strategic fit and interorganizational relations across multiple levels of analysis within various contexts, notably family firm contexts. He has published over 75 articles and books chapters. Honored for his world-class research, Tyge’s work on social capital was recognized by Thompson Reuters’ Web of Science with a Highly Cited Paper Award (2016) which placed it in the top 1% of works cited in the field of Economics & Business. His leadership within the academy has been far reaching, serving as the editor-in-chief of Family Business Review as well as on the editorial boards of several top journals (e.g., Entrepreneurship: Theory and Practice, Journal of Business Venturing, Journal of Management, and Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal). With numerous awards to his credit, Tyge has been elected a Fellow of the Southern Management Association. In addition, he actively consults with firms where he has served on several boards of directors.

MARC VAN ESSEN is an Associate Professor in the Sonoco International Business Department and director of the undergraduate international business program at the University of South Carolina, and permanent visiting professor at EMLYON Business School, France. He received his PhD from Erasmus University and his research interest, in addition to family business, include entrepreneurship, comparative corporate governance, international business, and meta-analytic methods. Marc’s research has been published in leading journals, including Academy of Management Journal, Journal of International Business Studies, Journal of Management, and Organization Science. Notably, Marc’s scholarship has received several distinctions and awards, including the 2017 Family Firm Institute Best Unpublished Research Award, the Jürgen Hauschildt Best Paper Award (2015) in Innovation Management (VHB), and the 2012 APJM Best Paper Award.