

FAU Business News

May 2021

More Than 800 College of Business Students Graduate in First Commencement Since 2019

Two 17-year-olds, both FAU High School students dually enrolled in the university, were among the youngest students to graduate this spring – FAU's first in-person commencement since fall 2019 due to the coronavirus pandemic.

MORE ON COMMENCEMENT

Professor Elected to Entrepreneurship Panel for Professional Trade Association

Sofia Johan, Ph.D., an associate professor of finance, will assume a leadership role this summer at the Academy of Management, an 85-year-old professional association of management academics worldwide.

LEARN ABOUT THE ROLE

Health Administration Students Shine at Case Study Competition

College of Business students shine at the 2021 American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE) South Florida Case Study Competition. Both the undergraduate and graduate teams were recognized for their outstanding performance.

READ ABOUT THE COMPETITION

Study: Federal Incentive Program Fails to Motivate Many Medicaid Providers

Florida has distributed roughly $100 million to Medicaid providers that ultimately did not demonstrate they used electronic health records (EHR) in a meaningful way after collecting first-year financial incentives, according to a study by researchers at FAU and the college's Health Administration program.

ANALYZE THE STUDY

Poll Tells Disturbing Tale of Hospitality and Tourism Employment

The world's battered hospitality and tourism industry has a long way to go to rebound from the devastating effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, according to a survey of workers conducted by researchers from the college's Hospitality and Tourism Management program.

SEE THE FEEDBACK

Survey: Biden Has More Work to Do to Win Over Florida Voters

U.S. President Joe Biden won praise in Florida for his handling of the coronavirus pandemic, but registered voters still issued only tepid approval for his first 100 days in office, according to a statewide survey by the FAU Business and Economics Polling Initiative.

SURVEY RESULTS

Executive Education
Ranking 2020

