

FLORIDA ATLANTIC
COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

2024
ANNUAL REPORT

DANIEL GROPPER, PH. D.
DEAN

Florida Atlantic University College of Business provides first-rate educational programs that prepare our students to reach their own personal version of the American dream. South Florida provides a dynamic, free enterprise economy where our students – no matter their racial, ethnic, or religious background – work, study, and play together and strive to reach their goals. From founding their own companies, to becoming partners and C-Suite executives at major organizations, even becoming a distinguished professor at Harvard – our grads have done all these and more. Success is rarely easy, and there are no guarantees, but our students, faculty and staff accomplish amazing things.

I am proud to serve as their Dean.

Deans Daniel Gropper, Curtis Whitehair, Stella Batalama

eMerge Americas, the global tech conference and expo, was founded by influential South Florida leader, innovator and College of Business alumnus Manuel Medina '74.

The 10th annual event in Miami Beach, Florida showcased technological innovation and commitment to entrepreneurship in the South Florida tech industry.

Business leaders and educators along with industry innovators and emerging entrepreneurs engaged in workshops, exhibits and speeches on the latest in trends and technologies.

YOUNG ENTREPRENEURS

Alumnus Joseph Watson '24, now an MBA student, also won the Rising Star Award at the 2024 eMerge conference in Miami. Currently interning at a tech startup in New York City, Watson reflects, "I know where I can go in five years because I've been able to work with companies and have a blueprint of how to start."

Vivian Yu, a junior in Florida Atlantic's Dorothy F. Schmidt College of Arts and Letters, is pursuing entrepreneurship as a minor to sharpen her business skills as a future architect. "You can have an amazing product, but the venture won't go anywhere if you don't know how to pitch it," said Yu.

Senior John Thomerson graduates with $56,000 in non-diluted funding for his patent pending pet health care venture, Potty Pal, along with a broad networking base fostered by the years he has spent in Florida Atlantic's entrepreneurial ecosystem. Potty Pal is inspired by his terrier, Daisy, who suffered from hind-quarters paralysis.

Donates $2 Million to University

Florida Atlantic alumnus and one of the longest serving faculty members at the University, Professor Emeritus Eric Shaw, Ph.D., '72, '73, has dedicated his life to teaching, research and service at his alma mater. Inspiring future generations to follow in his footsteps, Shaw's estate gift pledge of more than $2 million in 2021 benefits athletics, business, arts and letters, and other university programs. This gift also designates Shaw as the largest Florida Atlantic faculty or staff donor in the university's history, after former Assistant Professor Dick Schmidt '71.

"My 50 years at Florida Atlantic, first as an undergraduate student and now as emeritus professor, make me feel like I've grown up with the university," said Shaw.

"I am forever grateful to Florida Atlantic for providing me an excellent education, terrific mentors and talented colleagues to work with, exceptional students with bright eager minds to share knowledge, and offering me so many opportunities for personal and professional growth. It is a privilege and my great pleasure to give back by making a small contribution to this great university."

FLORIDA ATLANTIC'S BOCA FINANCE AND REAL ESTATE CONFERENCE

Florida Atlantic's Boca Finance and Real Estate Conference, December 12 -13, 2024 featured the theme: "Interest-Rate Risk and its Impact on Banking and Real Estate."

The unprecedented increase in interest rates orchestrated by the Federal Reserve Board during 2022 – 2023 has profoundly affected the values of long-duration securities as well as the values of fixed-rate mortgages and commercial real estate.

The conference offered an interdisciplinary forum to gain feedback on timely working papers from scholars in the accounting, economics, finance, and real estate disciplines.

Additional academic sessions discussed finance, real estate and ESG, two keynote speeches, a "Meet the Editors" panel, and three panel discussions focused on issues affecting commercial real estate.

 RANKED NO. 2 IN THE U.S.
 FOR THE SECOND YEAR IN A ROW

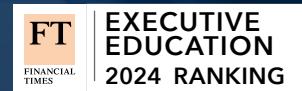

Florida Atlantic University's College of Business Executive Education ranked No. 2 in the U.S. for the second consecutive year in the Financial Times' top global rankings, and No. 1 in Florida for open enrollment professional education programs. The program, offering over 60 national and international certifications, also ranked No. 1 in the U.S. and No. 3 globally for female participation with high scores in overall satisfaction, course design, and teaching methods

Executive Education caters to professionals across industries— from healthcare, finance, accounting and more-- with participants from companies global and national companies like American Express, JP Morgan, United Healthcare, JM Family Enterprises and NextEra Energy.

Along with cutting edge courses on business analytics and AI, corporate trainings and events, Florida Atlantic recently added new master's programs in information technology management, supply chain management, and business analytics. Our executive Ph.D. in business administration is one of the few AACSB-accredited business schools to offer this degree in the U.S.

This recognition by Financial Times underscores Florida Atlantic's role as a key provider of professional development, particularly as Palm Beach County emerges as a financial hub.
