

Kudos

Sunil Babbar, Professor, and Ravi Behara, Professor, both in the Department of Information Technology and Operations Management, along with co-authors Xenophon Koufteros, Elliot Bendoly, Richard Metters and Kenneth Boyer, have had their paper titled, “Looking at Ourselves: Lessons about the Operations Management Field Learned from our Top Journals,” accepted for publication in the Journal of Operations Management (ABS4*).

Sunil Babbar, Professor, and Ravi Behara, Professor, both in the Department of Information Technology and Operations Management, along with co-authors Xenophon Koufteros and Christina Wong, have had their paper titled, “SCM Research Leadership: The Ranked Agents and their Networks,” accepted for publication in Supply Chain Management: An International Journal (ABS3).

Sunil Babbar, Professor, and Ravi Behara, Professor, both in the Department of Information Technology and Operations Management, along with co-authors Xenophon Koufteros and Christina Wong, have had their paper titled, “Charting Leadership in SCM Research from Asia and Europe,” accepted and published in the International Journal of Production Economics (ABS3).

Michael Harari, Assistant Professor, Management Programs, with co-authors, H. R. Parola, C. Hartwell and A. Riegelman, have had their paper titled, “Literature searches in systematic reviews and meta-analyses: A review, evaluation, and recommendations,” accepted for publication in the Journal of Vocational Behavior.

Paul Koku, Professor, Department of Marketing, has had two sole-authored papers accepted for presentation at the Academy of Marketing Science World Marketing Congress, to be held in Brisbane in July, 2020. The two manuscripts are titled, “Are Ethical Boycotts Merely Value Signaling? The Financial Effect of Ethical Boycotts,” and “On the Legal Liabilities of Food Tampering in the U.S. - A Review and Marketing Implications.”

Melanie Lorenz, Assistant Professor, Department of Marketing, with co-authors, J.R. Ramsey, M. Andzulis and G. R. Franke, have had their paper titled, “The Dark Side of Cultural Intelligence: Exploring Its Impact on Opportunism, Ethical Relativism, and Customer Relationship Performance,” accepted for publication in Business Ethics Quarterly. (ABS 4)

David Menachof, Associate Professor, Department of Information Technology and Operations Management, and co-authors, have had their article titled, “Exploring Logistics Service Quality in Hai Phong, Vietnam,” published in The Asian Journal of Shipping and Logistics.

Jim Riordan, Clinical Assistant Professor and Director, Management Programs – Sport Management, received the Outstanding Alumnus for 2020 by the FAU College of Education's Department of Education Leadership and Research Methodology.

Eric Shaw, Emeritus Professor, Department of Marketing, with co-authors Stephen Pirog and Justin Hall, have had their paper titled, “Household Purchasing Productivity: Concept and Consequences,” accepted to the Journal of Macromarketing.

Alan Whiteman, Associate Program Director, Management Programs/Health Administration, with co-author, U. Roopnarinesing, have had their paper titled “A Literature Review of the Learning Methodologies Applicable to Graduate Students Earning Advanced Degrees in Healthcare Administration,” accepted for publication in Reports on Global Health Research Journal.