

SOCIALISM IS NOT THE ANSWER!

Daniel Di Martino is a Ph.D candidate in economics at Columbia University and a graduate fellow at the Manhattan Institute, where he focuses on high-skill immigration policy.

Born and raised in Venezuela, Di Martino experienced the terrible consequences of socialism first-hand. After leaving Venezuela for the United States in 2016, he dedicated himself to explaining how socialism destroyed his homeland, advocating for its freedom, and stopping this ideology from ever being implemented in America and elsewhere.

Di Martino has appeared dozens of times on national TV channels, including Fox News, and CNN; written for USA Today, National Review, City Journal, and other new outlets; and speaks regularly at college campuses and events all over the country. In addition to his economic research on immigration and his media appearances, Di Martino founded the Dissident Project to teach students about the evils of socialist regimes.
