

Civic Literacy for College of Business Students

What is the Civic Literacy Requirement?

The State of Florida requires that all students (including second bachelor’s) who entered the Florida college or university system in Fall 2018 or later (not including dual enrollment) fulfill the Civic Literacy requirement.

When must I complete Civic Literacy?

Civic Literacy is a requirement to declare a College of Business major; complete within your first two terms at FAU.

How do I know if I am required to complete Civic Literacy?

Speak with your advisor to confirm whether you need Civic Literacy.

I started at a Florida public college or university:	Do I need to complete Civic Literacy?	Do I need an assessment, a course, or both?
Before Fall 2018	No (Cohort 1)	Neither
Fall 2018 to Summer 2021	Yes (Cohort 2)	Either an assessment* or a course
Fall 2021 to Summer 2024	Yes (Cohort 3)	Both an assessment* (FCLT) and a course
Fall 2024 or later	Yes (Cohort 4)	Both an assessment* (FCLE) and a course

*Some AP and CLEP exams from the College Board also satisfy the assessment requirement. See below.

I passed AP, AICE, or IB exams in high school. Will this satisfy Civic Literacy?

Depending on the exam you passed, you may meet the assessment requirement, the course requirement, or both. Send your official exam scores directly to FAU admissions.

- AP: If you earned a 3 in AP Government and Politics or a 4 in AP US History, both the course and the assessment requirement are complete. You will not need anything else for Civic Literacy.
- AICE: If you earned A-E on Cambridge AICE US History, c. 1840-1990 (A-Level), you will meet the course requirement; you will need the FCLT if you are in cohort 3 or the FCLE if you are in cohort 4.
- IB: If you earned 5-7 on IB History of America, you will meet the course requirement; you will need the FCLT if you are in cohort 3 or the FCLE if you are in cohort 4.

I took an equivalent to one of the Civic Literacy course requirements at a previous college/university. Is this accepted?

For POS2041 or AMH2020, equivalent coursework may be accepted if the course was taken in Fall 2018 or later.

For AMH2010, equivalent coursework may be accepted if the course was taken Fall 2024 or later.

I need to complete Civic Literacy while at FAU; what are my options?

- AMH2020 + state assessment
- POS2041 + state assessment
- AMH2010 + state assessment
- CLEP exam in American Government (no state assessment required)
- CLEP exam in History of the U.S. 1 (must be passed in Fall 24 or later; no state assessment required)

What state assessment do I need to take? How do I take it?

- Started at FAU Summer 24 or Earlier: Florida Civic Literacy Test (FCLT): www.fau.edu/ugstudies/civic-literacy-prior/
- Started at FAU Fall 24 or Later: Florida Civic Literacy Exam (FCLE): www.fau.edu/testing/all-tests/civics-literacy/
Important: The FCLE scores take two weeks to post; you must pass two weeks before you plan to declare your major.

How can I prepare for the state assessment?

Free workshops are offered throughout the year through the Center for Learning And Student Success (CLASS). This 3-part workshop series covers the founding of the U.S. and the U.S. Constitution and amendments, structure of U.S. government, and landmark Supreme Court Cases. For more information on these FREE workshops and for specific dates/times, visit www.fau.edu/class/civic-literacy.

How can I prepare for the CLEP?

Information about the CLEP can be found by visiting www.business.fau.edu/advising, clicking “FAU Resource Index,” and clicking College Level Examination Program \(CLEP\). The CLEP can only be taken once every 90 days. You must pass it before you can declare your major. Speak with your advisor about your deadline to declare your major.
